BATTLE

Of the Somme Is Graphically Described by Wounded Soldiers

TRENCHES ATTACKED WITH BOMBS

Seven Lines Taken By the French

GERMANS HARD PRESSED

Were Obligated to Fall Back Upon Frise Where They Came Under a Terrible Shell Fire By the Enemy, Evacuating the City Three Hours Later for Victorious Troops.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Paris, July 4, 5:55 a. m.—"We were sent against Domperre and Bequincourt," said a young colonial infantryman who was wounded in the battle of the Somme. "Things did not drag. The signal was given at 9 o'clock and off we went. Two hours later we had Domperre and Bequincourt and were pushing on towards Herbecourt. We had taken seven lines of trenches. It was real fighting. We marched with fixed bayonets but attacked the trenches with bombs. I never could have believed it would have gone so quickly. I felt so good that when my wrist was broken near Herbecourt I didn't even feel it."

Another wounded man of the same regiment said:

"While we were marching forward we saw to the right of us several tent flaps pegged down to the ground. 'Hello,' said the man beside me. The Germans are drying their washing."

"We laughed and trudged on, but suddenly shots came from behind us; the Germans appeared from underneath the flaps and were shooting into our backs. We fell upon them pretty quick. Twenty were killed and sixty others threw up their hands."

For a month past the Germans have been on the alert around the Somme and orders had been given in a secret circular to construct special entrenchments. Saps had everywhere been pushed to within 25 yards of the French barbed wire and numerous passages were cut in the German wire entanglement to enable their patrols to spy out every suspicious movement on the part of the French.

When the French attack began July 1, the Germans were so hard pressed that they were obliged to fall back upon Frise. They hoped to be able to cling there on account of the marshy loop of the Somme, but the German regiments holding that position were so badly punished by the bombardment that the reserves were ordered there. This order was received at 1 o'clock in the morning. According to a prisoner they immediately assembled and in companies marched through Peronne. One after another they reached Blaches, Flaucourt and then Herbecourt. Thence progress was difficult. When they entered the communication trenches leading to Frise they came under the terrible shell fire which caused heavy losses and once or twice a mine started and was with great difficulty stalled by the officer. Finally towards 7 o'clock the reinforcements which already had suffered severely, reached the trenches and were posted between the second and third positions behind Frise where they were subjected to a terrific bombardment. The men crouching in shelters ten feet below ground could hear the explosions of the heavy French shells knocking their defense to powder and now and then one shell would tear through the roof of their shelter and bury the occupants under a mass of earth and beams.

Three hours later the French infantry made a fresh attack upon Frise. Their advance was so sudden that the Germans lost their hold on their positions. The German officers ordered two companies of reinforcements to advance along the Somme canal where they were cut off by the French. Other companies were sent to Frise and Mercourt and to wait events but in less than two hours the whole German line began to fall back closely pressed by the victorious French.

BERLIN ADMITS THE FRENCH HAVE BEEN SUCCESSFUL

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Berlin, July 3, 6 p. m., via London, July 4, 8:20 a. m.—On the basis of information received by the Associated Press here, the first results of the long heralded entente offensive may be summarized as follows:

No noteworthy successes have been scored in the British front. The only considerable results have been attained by the French, whose offensive as usual was marked by great

INDEPENDENCE DAY—LET OLD GLORY WAVE FROM EVERY AMERICAN HOME

PRES. WILSON

ASSISTS IN DEDICATION OF NEW HOME FOR LABOR FEDERATION

Thousands of Organized Workers Participate in Parade Held in Nation's Capital Today

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, July 4.—Dedication of the new home of the American Federation of Labor, with President Wilson, members of the cabinet and prominent labor leaders participating, featured the celebration of Independence day here.

The exercises were preceded by a labor parade with thousands of organized workers from throughout the country in line. The line of march was from Peace monument at the foot of the capitol, up Pennsylvania avenue and past the new labor building which occupies a site at the northeast corner of Ninth street and Massachusetts avenue.

There President Wilson, after reviewing the marchers, was to make an address. Samuel Gompers, president of the American federation of labor also was to speak.

At the conclusion of brief exercises, the trustees of the federation of labor were to take over the building. They are James O'Connell, Samuel Gompers and Frank Morrison.

A municipal athletic contest, band concert and fireworks display, held on the Washington monument grounds, were the principal features of the community celebration of Independence Day.

Government departments and stores were closed and both houses of congress had adjourned for the day.

HAVE STARTED MOVEMENT TO PREVENT WAR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, July 4.—Labor leaders of the United States and Mexico today believe they had started a popular movement to prevent war between the two nations by assisting each to understand the difficulties of the other. The movement was launched by issuance of a statement signed by officers of the American Federation of Labor and five representatives of organized labor in Mexico, urging people of both nations to make strenuous efforts to prevent war.

The labor men propose that the government of each nation appoint "a commission to be composed of high minded citizens, fully representative of our nations to consider differences that have brought our nations to the verge of war, and to make such recommendations for adjustment as shall fitly express the highest ideals of the great rank and file of the citizenship of the world."

Messages approaching the proposal from local labor leaders in various parts of the United States and other citizens, were looked for today. With thousands of additional national guardsmen reaching the border daily, the war department has ordered a distribution of authority along the boundary between the major General Funston and the eastern section, and Major General J. Franklin Bell commander of the Western department for the western portion. Brigadier General Pershing believes he can relinquish

Waters Were Calmed, and City Fathers Did Not Present a Very Militant Spirit at the Meeting

The proposed "fireworks" scheduled for last night's council meeting, which promised to lay bare a number of deep dark secrets of the inner-workings of the administration, were delayed in the making and the few noble constituents who braved the discomfort of the stuffy council chamber witnessed a meeting, which with one exception, was one of "brotherly love."

The one exception, which went to spoil a perfectly harmonious evening, took place when Councilman Curry objected to a resolution by Councilman Knauber declaring it necessary to appropriate certain property between Fifth and German street for the purpose of opening a street, which Mr. Knauber claimed has been unfinished for the past 50 years. Mr. Curry cited a resolution of his own that was turned down, providing for the opening of Kibler street, because the city had no right to take this action.

Councilman Knauber and several of the other members of council tried to explain to Mr. Curry why his resolution was both wrong and right at the same time and then as a body took action and passed Knauber's effort, despite the "no long waits" man's protest. Mr. Curry voted nay on both the motion to pass the resolution to its second and third reading and the final adoption. But the resolution was carried.

Then when Councilman Adams' resolution was presented deciding it was necessary to improve Central avenue by installing a sewer, Councilman Beadle asked some embarrassing questions as to why a couple of improvements in East Newark, decided upon several months ago, were still uncompleted.

"There is some running around here," he said, "that I don't understand. I am going to vote for all these improvements, proposed, but what I would like to know is, why has nothing been done with my improvements in East Newark. They have been hanging fire some time and I believe this improvement business should be taken care of in rotation. However, I am not protesting against the improvements to be voted upon tonight, and will cast my vote for the issue."

Councilman Keys drew the honor of pacifying Mr. Beadle and stated that the delay was due to City Engineer Wells having been too ill to prepare plans and specifications for the East Newark work. Mr. Beadle said he did not care to take exceptions to the engineer being ill, because he had had illness in his family, but he thought that his improvements should be taken care of in their turn. Then the meeting resumed its previous calmness and Clerk Woodward proceeded with the business of the table.

The monthly report of Mayor Bigbee for June was received and placed on file. City cases—Fines, $46; licenses, $25; other cases, $30; patrol $42. Total, $143. State cases—Fines, $101; mayor's fees, $76; officers' fees, $38. Total, $215.00.

The city engineer's report in the proposed sewer improvements for a total of $1,775.85 as the city's share in the improvement was received and placed on file. A petition signed by B. Atwood and 17 others asking council to take some action relative to the unsanitary condition of Cambria street, due to stagnant water, was referred to the board of health. Ordinance No. 2611 (Keys) to

FIREWORKS

WILL BE ALLOWED AT COLUMBUS BY SPECIAL PERMISSION OF MAYOR

Could Not Secure Militiamen and Preparedness Parade Has Been Cancelled

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, July 4.—Although fireworks are tabooed by city ordinance, the Fourth will be "adequately" observed in Columbus and vicinity, according to Mayor George J. Korb who has granted special permission to communities for the use of fireworks where guarantees have been made that adults will have charge of their ignition.

At Camp Willis, where several thousand Ohio national guardsmen are preparing for service in anticipation of a call to the Mexican border, the day promises to be appropriately observed. Officers, it was stated, may order a camp review late this afternoon, the first held since mobilization began.

Agents will be presented today in the three city parks, 150 school children participating. Because of their inability to obtain assurances from Federal mustering officers that enlisted men would be available to appear in the procession, a large preparedness parade planned by officials of the Columbus chamber of commerce has been cancelled. It was to have taken place this afternoon. A number of elaborate floats had been prepared for the event by Columbus business men.

WENT TO SLEEP WHILE DRIVING FORD MACHINE

It was proven conclusively last night to Paul Arbury, driver of a taxi for the Martin Taxi Line, that of the many versatile accomplishments of the Ford automobile, there was one thing they refused to do successfully—and that is continue to stay on the road while their drivers sleep at the wheel.

Arbury today is suffering from a number of bruises and several deep cuts on both his knees as a result of the machine he was driving colliding with a telephone pole in West Main street, near Fourth street. According to Arbury he was returning from a call and while going east on Main street, fell asleep at the steering wheel. A few seconds after he had lapsed into a comfortable snooze, his nap was suddenly disturbed by a crash of glass and a sudden pitch into the street. And he was wide awake.

The front of the car was badly damaged by the compact with the pole but Arbury was able to resume his journey to the McDaniel restaurant, where he left the machine and went to his home. It is probable that Arbury will be off duty for several days as proof of the argument that even a Ford must be driven, while awake.

CLEVELAND TROOPS LEAVE FOR COLUMBUS

Cleveland, July 4.—Battery A, Ohio field artillery, and troop A, first Ohio cavalry, Cleveland's two remaining militia units, left for Camp Willis, Columbus, this morning. Troop A left at 9 A. M. and the battery one hour later. Both units are at full strength. The battery has 171 men and 5 officers. Troop A has 100 and 3 officers.

LADY GREY IS WOUNDED

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, July 4, 11:35 A. M.—Lady Sybil Grey, daughter of Earl Grey, formerly governor general of Canada, was seriously but not dangerously wounded while with the British Red Cross at the Russian front, says a Reuter dispatch from Petrograd. During handgrenade practice, a grenade was thrown through a window shelter near which she was sitting and a splinter penetrated her left cheek and jaw.

Bombs Dropped By French Aeroplanes

REPLY

To American Note Received by Mexican Ambassador at Washington

WILL BE DELIVERED TOMORROW

Said to Be Conciliatory in Tone

MAY WITHDRAW FORCES

Of General Pershing According to Rumor, Which, However, Is Unconfirmed—Trouble Along Border Has Begun to Lessen With First Arrivals of National Guard.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Washington, July 4.—A note to the United States from the de facto government of Mexico reached Eliseo Arredondo, the Mexican ambassador designate here today and probably will be delivered to the state department tomorrow.

The communication is described by persons close to the embassy as being conciliatory in tone and designed to offer the basis of an amicable settlement of the differences between the two governments.

It is in reply to both the last two notes sent to the de facto government by Secretary Lansing and is said to bring the issue between the two governments down to date.

Promises to restore order in Northern Mexico and protect American territory from raids as renewed with the suggestion that the presence of American troops on Mexican soil is largely responsible for unsettled conditions, and that their withdrawal would go far toward eliminating sources of friction and difficulty.

There is said to be no specific renewal of the demands for recall of the Pershing expedition or threat of attacks, but at the same time the request of Secretary Lansing for a statement of intentions is met by a general discussion of the situation rather than by a direct announcement of purposes.

The Mexican government states that it has accepted in principle suggestions of mediation from other American republics, and invites the United States likewise to record itself. It adds, however, that direct negotiations between the two governments concerned should bring more satisfactory results than mediation.

Embassy officials believe General Carranza himself framed the language of the note. It is said to be much more diplomatic in terms and tone than any of the recent Mexican communications. Secretary Lansing was told informally of the arrival of the note and what was understood to be its contents. He seemed highly gratified but would not comment pending its delivery to him.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) El Paso, July 4.—Uncertainty enveloped the border today after opportunity had been given thoroughly to digest the significance of the latest development in the Mexican situation.

While the uninterrupted stream of national guardsmen that is being rushed to border points, encouraged those who believe a break with the Carranza government near, to hold to their theory of rumors of the imminent abandonment of General J. J. Pershing's punitive expedition did much to soften their assertions.

The latest withdrawal rumor came from Columbus and although unconfirmed was given serious consideration as it is said to have come from the expedition itself. According to the Columbus report, General Pershing's forces will be withdrawn as soon as the disposition of national guardsmen along the line is completed.

To offset these rumors, interventionists purported to see in the division of border authority among Generals Funston, Pershing and Bell and the possibility that a command officer will be named to direct operations both on the border and in Mexico, an indication that the government had no intention of abandoning the Pershing expedition.

In this connection, it was pointed out at departmental headquarters that it would be impossible for General Pershing to move further north without abandoning his water supply unless he came to the border.

With regard to El Paso, anticipation of trouble here from across the river began to lessen with the first National Guard arrivals and disappeared entirely with the announcement that a brigade of field artillery will be formed here. Across the Rio Grande in Juarez, everything is reported quiet, with Mexican officials hopeful that the first chief will find a way to placate the United States. Interest was manifested in the statement given out in Chihuahua City last night by General Trevino, commander of the North, who cited instances of the de facto government's compensation law. TROOPS

To the Number of 12,000 Now Under Canvas at Camp Willis

MOBILIZATION IS NOW COMPLETED

Training Soldiers for Mexican Border Duty

PLENTY OF DRILLING

Will Be Given the Guardsmen to Accommodate Them to Real Army Life—Strict Physical Requirements Will Be Used As Standard By the Federal Mustering Officers.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, July 4.—Nearly 12,000 Ohio national guardsmen will be under canvass tonight at Camp Willis, officers stated today. The arrival at the camp of the squadron of cavalry and the two remaining batteries of field artillery will mark the completion of mobilization. These troops are expected to arrive soon after noon.

After mustering of the guardsmen into federal service is completed, unless orders to proceed immediately to the border are received, the camp will settle down to a strict, hard routine in which, for the enlisted men, life will be "just one drill after another," as a guard officer expressed it. It is pointed out that it is absolutely essential that the soldiers be in the best possible physical trim for the service on the Mexican border, which is anticipated for them and accordingly officers intend to put them through a daily routine which will accustom them to real army life and at the same time make them immune against many of the ailments to which "green" recruits are subject in the field.

Strict physical requirements are being used as a standard by the federal mustering officers. Indications are the Eighth regiment, which came to camp with nearly 1900 men, will lose five per cent. of its strength because of these requirements. Commissioned officers are said to be anxious on this account fearing some of their commands may be in this way so reduced they will not be able to pass mustering requirements.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, July 4.—The final units of the Ohio National Guard, included in President Wilson's call for troops for border service are to move to Camp Willis today. Adjutant-General Benson W. Hough last night issued orders to the cavalry squadron and the two remaining batteries, A and B, to entrain for Columbus.

The cavalry squadron consists of four troops made up of Troop A at Cleveland, Troop B at Columbus, Troop C at Cincinnati, and Troop D at Toledo. Battery A is also a Cleveland organization and Battery B is located at Akron.

The commander of the cavalry squadron is Major Dudley J. Hard of Cleveland while Major Harold M. Bush of Columbus commands the artillery battalion.

Mustering in of the Eighth regiment will be continued today. The Fifth will be the next to be received into the federal service, camp officers say.

The gossip of the camp is that the Eighth regiment with the Second field hospital company of Columbus is to be sent to the border soon. Militia officers have made no announcement concerning the movement of troops from the mobilization camp.

SUSPEND ALL EXPORTATION TO BULGARIA

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) London, July 4.—The Rumanian government seized 350 cars and six locomotives belonging to Austro-Hungarian railways which were sent into Rumania while the Rumanians were advancing in Bukovina says a Reuter dispatch from Bucharest. All exportation to Bulgaria has been suspended.

TO CONSIDER DECISION

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Zanesville, Ohio, July 4.—John A. Voll, President of the Ohio Federation of Labor, has issued a call for a meeting of the Executive Board of the Federation in Columbus Thursday, July 6, to consider the recent decision of the State Supreme Court relative to liability insurance companies operating in this state and its probable effect on the workmen's compensation law.

LONES WIFE AND BABY

Delaware, July 4.—A lone woman, a member of company K, Fourth regiment, Ohio national guards, left her home Sunday morning for Camp Willis. At the same hour the next day she died and both her mother and baby died yesterday.

Men of Newark

THOMAS A. BAZLER, PROPRIETOR OF THE BAZLER UNDERTAKING Establishment in West Church street, one of Newark's best known concerns, was born in Pickaway county. He worked on a farm the early part of his life and for two years attended Derby high school. Leaving school he returned to farm work which occupation he followed until he was 26 years of age. Then he chose the city of Columbus as the logical place to begin a business career, entering the transfer business. He followed this line of endeavor for twelve years and at night studied embalming at the undertaking firm of Fletcher-Brown company. He came to Newark in 1911 and purchased the undertaking business of George Bowers. One year later he became affiliated with Lester N. Bradley and was a partner with Mr. Bradley for three years. Eighteen months ago Mr. Bazler and Mr. Bradley dissolved partnership and the former embarked in business for himself again. His "White" ambulance is always on the scene of accidents in a hurry when called, assuring the injured of a speedy transportation to the local hospitals. He is a member of the official board of the First M. E. church and fraternally is a member of the Odd Fellows, Rebecca Lodge and Loyal Order of Moose. Associated with him in his business is his wife, a licensed embalmer, who is very active in the business of the firm.

DIVINING ROD EXPERIMENTS IN DESERT WASTE

[Associated Press Correspondence] Berlin, July 4.—Scientific experiments with the divining rod conducted by Germans over a period of months in the desert wastes of Syria and Eastern Egypt—approximately in the district of the new railway line being built toward the Suez canal—not only have resulted in the discovery of water, but have proved that the so-called and flouted rod is about 70 per cent infallible, according to Dr. Th. Preyer, formerly in the German consular service, who is a practical scientist himself. He admits that he should belong to that majority of intelligent persons who deride the divining rod as a swindle if he had not been able to see it work for four months. Dr. Preyer admits that he does not know the secret of the divining rod, and that seemingly a peculiarly "gifted" man must use the instrument to have success. He believes that science will discover that subterranean streams flowing under pressure, emit rays like the radio-active rays of some springs which force their way through the earth and affect certain peculiarly constituted persons. He describes Major Von G., who used the rod in Egypt, as a remarkably nervous man who becomes

"tuned up" to an unusual tension when he takes the rod into his hands and begins to walk across the desert. The major generally uses an iron rod, for though it is less sensible to the mysterious forces which make it tremble, it works satisfactorily because of his highly developed "gifts." He has, however, and occasionally uses, rods of wood, aluminum and silver, which are increasingly sensitive in the order named. The iron rod never gives a hint about the character of the water which it reveals and the major for a time discovered continually that the streams so painstakingly dug out were brackish and salt, filled with water impossible for human consumption. Finally, however, he found that a rod of aluminum and bronze, held over a spot at which the iron rod had signalled water, would fly upwards if the water was fresh and drinkable, but remain unresponsive or droop downward if the water was salt. This instrument, however, cannot always be trusted, for there are cases on record in which it signalled salt water, and was unaffected by the clear, good water that was found under a stratum of salt. The major's latest experiments have been made in a section of country where water has never been known. The district is four by twenty kilometers in extent, and yet water is said to have been found now at depths of 50 and 55 meters in a number of places.

bravery and dash. Retirement to the second German lines occurred where the French were opponents. In coincidence with the Anglo-French offensive the Russians have developed activity along the whole northern front. Their activity against the northern German armies for the time being appears merely demonstrative; but vigorous fighting is in progress against the front of General Woytsch's southern army where at least eight divisions are engaged. The battle here is still stationary with no decisive results in either direction. The Berlin papers publish long dispatches regarding the Anglo-French offensives from correspondents at field headquarters, but these contain no particular information, being for the most part mere commentary on the official report. The correspondents point out that the offensive, as in the autumn, again was launched from the junction point of the Anglo-French armies, which has moved southward since autumn and now is between Gommeourt and the old Roman road from Amiens to St. Quentin. The correspondent of the Post telegraph: "The German line south of the Somme had to retire somewhat after the front trenches were so damaged under a week's bombardment that they were untenable. "Included in the enemy's gains are the destroyed villages of Fricourt, Moncel, Bécourt, Herbécourt and Assevillers. The enemy's attack at all other points was halted before it reached the German intermediate positions. No fighting is in progress along the entire front. "In conclusion the German authorities flatly deny French claims of the recapture of Thiaumont redoubt, which they declare is firmly in the possession of the Germans.

WATER PROBLEM ALONG BORDER IS A SERIOUS ONE

"RAINY SEASON" FOR MEXICANS BEGINS JULY 1 IN CENTRAL AND WESTERN PART.

For Two Months Remarkable Growth of Vegetation Will be Seen—Cactus Chief Food Article.

[Special to The Advocate] Washington, July 4.—"One of the greatest problems facing the officers of our National Guard now being rushed to the Mexican border is how to keep their men and horses supplied with water," says today's war geography bulletin issued at Washington by the National Geographic Society.

"While the water question is a serious one throughout a wide zone on both banks of the 1,100 mile Rio Grande boundary, it is vastly more important along the 700 mile line extending from El Paso to the Pacific. Throughout the latter section the average rainfall does not exceed eight inches a year, while in some parts of the Yuma desert there have been droughts when the aggregate rainfall for twelve months has been less than three-fourths of an inch.

"Throughout this region there are two so-called 'rainy seasons,' the more important being that which extends from the first of July to the middle of September.

"For the next two months our border soldiers will witness a remarkable growth of vegetation, the moisture and the intense heat combining to cause grass, grain, fruits and flowers to spring to life and maturity as if quickened by some magic of a wizard's wand. All growing things of the soil will experience spring, summer and autumn in the space of three months. Then leaves and grass, shrubs and vines will shrivel as the clouds disappear and a brazen sky once more canopies a region of 'silence, solitude and sunshine.'

"Between the Rio Grande and the Pacific coast the international boundary line crosses only fine running streams, the first of these in the westward journey being in the San Bernardino valley, 193 miles from El Paso, where thousands of cattle find excellent pasturage. Just south of the line, along the Bernardino creek a tributary of the Yaqui river, are the ruins of an adobe fort, a relic of an extensive settlement in the days of Spanish dominion in the new world.

"Even where running water is found along this frontier it is not always conveniently available for irrigation purposes. For example, the San Pedro river, which crosses the boundary midway between Douglas and Nogales, Arizona, has cut so deeply into the soil that the bed of the 15 foot stream is now far below the surrounding land, making gravity irrigation impossible.

"The Santa Cruz river, further west, crosses the boundary twice, rising north of the line, flowing south for a distance of 15 miles into Mexico, returning to Arizona and finally disappearing in the sands north of Tucson, about 75 miles from the border.

"Beyond the Santa Cruz the boundary line crosses a desert region where the intelligent, peace-loving Papagos Indians lead a strange existence, concentrating all their agricultural activities in the three or four rainy-season months when the land becomes an intensive culture garden of great fertility. With the first clouds of June the natives rush to their 'temporales,' small tracts of land in the vicinity of natural or artificial water holes, where shallow irrigation ditches are dug and where quickly-maturing beans, pumpkins, melons and Indian corn are planted. One of the chief articles of food in this region is the fruit of a giant cactus, which ripens in June and July. It is eaten fresh, is dried for winter, boiled and preserved and made into a syrup, while a considerable portion of the annual yield is converted into a much prized intoxicating beverage. After the summer harvest the Papagos migrate to the mountains where they gather acorns for food. In lean years they subsist largely on mesquite beans and certain varieties of grass seed.

"These Indians are constantly sustained in their hard battle for existence by the belief that their Messiah, whom they call 'Moctezuma,' will come some day to correct all abuses and make the desert his garden of paradise. The entrance to their adobe huts face the east so that the great benefactor will find all doors open when he comes with the rising sun.

"The heat in the desert regions during the summer months is overpowering. Government surveying parties have had to endure 118 degrees, Fahrenheit, in the shade, while the gradations of the ordinary thermometer are not sufficiently high to record the terrible heat in the sun, which has been known to reach 150 degrees.

"On the eastern slope of the Sierra de Tinajas Altas, three miles north of the boundary line, there is an extensive semi-circular amphitheatre in the midst of which is a series of curious reservoirs. Here seven great natural tanks have been carved from the rocks in the course of centuries by water tumbling down a narrow gorge during the rainy season. These tanks have a capacity of from 15,000 to 20,000 gallons and the water which they catch each summer is protected from evaporation by overhanging cliffs.

"Some of these tanks can be reached only by a difficult climb, and the imaginative traveler can readily picture the many tenuous tragedies which occurred here during the great gold rushes of the 'fifties' and 'sixties. Numerous crosses of stone in the vicinity mark the graves of those perishing prospectors who reached the great reservoirs but who had not sufficient reserve strength to scale the rocks and place their parched lips to the rim of these giant beakers of life-giving water.

"The heat and dryness of the atmosphere in this desert land induce such profuse perspiration that both men and horses require an abnormal quantity of water, the average for men being seven quarts a day and for mules and horses 20 gallons."

LAKE VISITORS WILL BE WELL ENTERTAINED

The management at Buckeye Lake has arranged a special program for the park today, to entertain the thousands of visitors who will spend the day at the lake. The new bathing beach at Summerland is attracting large crowds and Castle Military Band will make its first appearance at the park giving afternoon and evening concerts. At 4 o'clock and 8 o'clock Captain Jack Bishop will give an exhibition of high diving, when he dives from an 855-foot tower into 5 feet of water. The Buckeye Lake Yacht Club is holding the annual summer regatta today, with boats of many classes entered. The club will entertain a number of guests during the day. The two large pavilions will have special dance programs, and every effort will be made to entertain and care for those who visit the park today. One-seventh of the people of Thibet are monks.

HOLLOW SQUARE OF PRAIRIE SCHOONERS PROTECTS U. S. TROOPS

Just as the travelers in "prairie schooners" did in '49, when the western frontier was anything but a safe place for a white man, the soldiers of Uncle Sam in Mexico take no chances on a surprise attack that might mean their death and the destruction of the supplies they are taking from the border to General Pershing's base in the interior. The photo shows the automobile trucks that traverse the desert from Columbus, N. M., to Pershing's camp, after having been arranged in hollow square formation, so that in the event of an attack the soldiers have a substantial protection from which to meet the enemy.

SHORT SESSION SCHOOL BOARD LAST EVENING

The regular monthly meeting of the board of education was moved ahead one night on account of Tuesday being a legal holiday. All members were present with the exception of W. C. Christian, whose absence was necessitated by illness in his family.

Consideration of the proposal to buy the lots of R. F. Collins, immediately south of Hudson avenue building for $6500 was postponed until a future meeting. Contracts, on condition that the contractors meet the material specifications of the school board, were let to the lowest bidder, H. D. Place and Son, Franklin school house, painting outside woodwork $45; A. B. Hampshire, Conrad building, painting interior $181; C. M. Koney, painting office rooms of superintendent and principal at high school, $160; Lanning Bros., painting interior rooms, Texas building, $97.32; Lanning Bros., Central building, painting whole interior, $395.75. In each case the contractors are to furnish the materials. At adjournment the board decided to meet next Monday evening to make definite arrangements with the contractors.

A motion by Seth W. Haight to transfer $1000 from the contingent fund to the fund for the White athletic field was carried unanimously.

C. Z. Martin, of the Lowe Bros. Point Co., of Dayton, gave a demonstration of inside and outside paint. No bids were submitted at this time by the Lowe Co., and no action on this matter was taken by the board.

The following bills were approved by the board:

Newark Natural Gas and Fuel Co., $22.81; Elliot Hardware Co., $46.85; F. W. Devoe, for paste, $6.00; Geo. Ritter, labor, $13.75; Thomas Dick, labor, $1.00; T. M. HIGH SCHOOL BOY IS MAKING GOOD

(Associated Press Telegram)

Saginaw, Mich., July 4.—A high school pitcher, who has been twirling sensational ball this season, is working out daily with the Detroit Americans. Jimmy Burke, the Detroit coach, says Brooks is the best prospect he has looked over in years. Brooks will not sign a Detroit contract at present. Brooks eventually thought that two outs had been made before the striking out of Johnson and walked toward third base, where he was caught flat footed, catcher to short.

BLAMED IT ON THE SCORE BOY

(Associated Press Telegram)

St. Louis, July 4.—The score boy at the St. Louis American League park last night when he failed to record the exact number of outs. One man was out, one on first, and First Baseman Bortone was on second when Short Stop Johnson struck out, but before the third strike had been pitched the score board had recorded two outs. Bortone eventually thought that two outs had been made before the striking out of Johnson and walked toward third base, where he was caught flat footed, catcher to short.

OLD TIMERS TO PLAY BALL

Detroit, July 4.—Two teams of old time ball players will probably play an exhibition game at Navin field during the third week of July. Plans for the contest have been under way for some time. Former major league players, now living in various parts of the country, will participate, according to present plans. If the game proves a success it may be played each year and it is understood that New York wants next year's contest.

LOCAL TEAM WILL PLAY THE FAST HEWITTS

The Capital City league will play two games today, the Pleasanton team meets the Hewitts' instead of the Mendels at Wehrle park at 3 p. m., and the New Athletics will look up with Willie's Most Cutters at Columbus. The change of the Columbus team to play Newark, was due to the fact that a number of Mendels players were called out of the city and the trip to this city was abandoned.

Manager Hackett's club is traveling at a fast clip at present and the Newark fans are assured of a scrappy game this afternoon. Umpires Brungs and Taylor will officiate at Wehrle park.

Downey Shades Duffy

Bryan Downey of Columbus earned a shade over Jimmy Duffy of Lockport, N. Y., in their 12-round battle at Coliseum before the Olympic club last night. With his never-let-up style of boxing Bryan carried the milling to the Eastern boy from the going in the first round until the final bell and, on two occasions, he had the Lockport looking all the last. In the seventh round Downey hit Duffy a number of successive blows on the jaw and followed with three or four to the stomach, and it looked for a while that Bryan was going to "peep". Indeed, Duffy had very little to say after the fight looking at a point of cleverness and at no time did he get out of the Columbus prize.

Duffy, who left apparent to good advantage in the early rounds of the bout, but Downey was not long in changing his style, and before the fight had progressed very far Downey was very much at sea to find a place that he could land a telling blow. Without any further hesitation, Downey kept right after him and when the Columbus boy landed it was with real effect. General leaving with a left jab to the face, the Harry had Duffy's mouth bleeding most of the time, and Bryan would follow this blow with a head left to the stomach. They would come to close range and invariably Downey would play a tattoo on the stomach of the Easterner, taking a few light blows to the head in return.

HAVE ENTERED SPEED CONTEST

(Associated Press Telegram)

Maha, July 4.—The following well known drivers have entered for the 200-mile automobile race which is to be run July 15 at the Omaha speedway: Carlo Resta, Ralph de Palma, Earl Cooper, William P. Alene, Tommy Milton, Ralph Miford, Ira Vail, Charles Devlin and C. W. Thompson. The management expects to sign half a dozen more.

Joe Stecher, the wrestling champion, has offered a special $100 prize for the driver making the fastest lap in the race.

CHRISTIE KNOCKS OUT SKELLEY

(Associated Press Telegram)

London, July 4.—Christie Skelley, Mil-waukee knuckled out Jack Skelley of Terre Haute in 1 minute and 45 seconds of their first round of a scheduled 15-round contest at the Central League baseball park last night. Both are welterweights. Joey Nelson, Indianapolis, and Macky Moore, Fort Wayne, and George Lingo, Toledo, and Chuck Wiggins, Indianapolis, went 12 and 10 rounds to draws.

SWIMMERS TO COMPETE

(Associated Press Telegram)

Detroit, July 4.—Some of the fastest swimmers in the United States are to compete at the A. A. U. Junior and senior championships, at Put-in-Bay, Ohio, the week of July 16. Four Chicago clubs have entered their stars.

6 to 45% Advance on this Oil Stock July 10

To Investors: This Company now controls over thirty thousand acres of land and leases in the real oil belt. These properties have been carefully selected and are well blocked into many different projects, reaching into twelve different oil companies. We have actual work started on twenty-four new wells—four to seven of which should be completed during the next two weeks, including several to the deep sands.

This Company may have over two hundred million dollars of oil in five different properties and is determined to put into operation the balance of forty to fifty wells and keep them going until the Company's production reaches twenty thousand barrels per day.

It controls one great lease of about twelve thousand acres northwest of the rich Healdton oil pool on a reported greater anti-cline than Healdton. Drilling is being moved in and drilling will start at once at our choice location on this property where a great production can be expected. The Healdton field covers less acreage and is now estimated to be worth nearly a quarter of a billion dollars.

Also this Company has recently secured a lease of nearly five thousand acres in Stephens County, Oklahoma. Several hundred acres of which are in line between a rich oil near Duncun and another new pool north of Bingham that is developing enormous gas wells in a shallow depth. Bound to be big oil near this gas.

A reported 1700-barrel gusher has just been secured about three miles southeast of a big oil field in the southern district. Leases are selling as high as five hundred dollars per acre and the gusher is now being drilled. The greater your first resistance the greater will be your allocation.

By Monday, July 10, five to seven new wells in different districts should be completed. Some of them are certain to be rich producers and will justify an advance in the stock from 6 to 10 per cent, which will immediately follow on the advertised price as stated herein.

This company is offering the moderate investor a real opportunity. It is backed by sufficient strength to continue drilling until the oil is secured. It now has nearly one hundred and fifty (150) producing oil and gas wells—and room for about two hundred more. It has three refineries; over 165 miles of pipe line. The Company owns its own tank cars and oil marketing stations. It is completely independent in control of a market direct to the people. With just average good luck in our drilling operations, we can produce oil at a cost of less than $1.00 per barrel. The greater your first resistance the greater will be your allocation.

The oil fields of the Middle West have hardly been scratched. The future for the powerful independent is almost unlimited. The greater your first resistance the greater will be your allocation.

The oil fields of the Middle West have hardly been scratched. The future for the powerful independent is almost unlimited. The greater your first resistance the greater will be your allocation.

mediate future. Good propositions do not last long. The future will soon prove that these leases and wells are right now, for it is certain to find ready buyers and the present stockholders are continuously paying in large sums.

We plan to invest from 3 to 5 million dollars in new properties and drilling new oil wells. The final authorized issue of stock will make a total of eight hundred million shares. About half of this amount is yet to be issued, and when issued will certainly pay for five hundred (500) new wells. By making yourself a stockholder at once and then increasing your holdings under the stock dividend allotment you can now get control of the stock for a payment which would make the entire capital stock equal to less than two million dollars per value.

The present stockholders would not consider a cash sale of our combined property at less than ten million dollars. The stockholders have only paid in about 2 1/2 million dollars, or a gain of about four times the amount. The Company has many different leases, each of which may develop into a greater value than all the stock will come to on this property at less than ten million dollars. The book value of the stock nearly double the sacrifice offer herein to you.

You will not find another investment of about 2 1/2 million dollars, which will give you a country block of this offer. This Company can use new capital in drilling test wells that may increase the value of certain leases 10 to 100 times. Alone you could do but little in the oil fields but remittance for this stock, combined with a hundred other people, drill a test well on some of our different leases that by such drilling may jump in value to 100 times.

The stock is offered on a stock dividend basis. After you are a stockholder or you will secure the right of the allocation. The greater your first resistance the greater will be your allocation.

The production of this Company—right now when all is marketed will total about Forty thousand Dollars per month and may be doubled by new wells now drilling. In a year's time, combined with a hundred other people, almost sure to be increased five times and may increase fifty times and cause a phenomenal advance on the stock.

We can operate several drills direct from our present production, but we are determined to push ahead with 40 to 50 drills and will permit you to secure a part of this growing in value oil stock to help drive this necessary development work.

The Uncle Sam Oil Company secured renewals on over Four thousand (4000) acres of oil leases in the Osage National a few weeks ago and is now operating two drills on these leases, and will soon increase to ten drills in a district on our Osage leases between a former fifteen hundred acres and a new 14,000 and a sixty million gas well that sprayed oil on the west.

We are drilling a very valuable lease in the Red Rock district, where we will work with four drills near the middle of over Twelve hundred acres.

Our chances are good for big wells on our Ranch Creek leases in Pawnee county, near the center of about fifteen hundred acres.

This company also owns a substantial property near the center of the townships that contains the great Cushing oil field in line with a reported 14,000 barrel gusher secured a few months ago.

We have our pipe-line completed to this Cushing property and have already developed a rich pool in the low sand and now have at great cost, deep test wells that will go to 3000 to 4000 feet, and may open the greatest high grade oil pool in the United States.

Under these circumstances, we are forced to offer this stock at a great sacrifice. The sacrifice of 6 to 45% is well near the center of its fourteenth quarter sections of leases in Pawnee County, near Jennings where many wells are being drilled. We expect nearly a second Cushing pool. In 6 to 24 days real oil gushers in this district now seem sure. The drills will go deeper day and night and we have started two new wells in the very heart of this new field on different properties.

We have over five miles of line to protect this field and may start the balance of Forty-two (42) new wells on these valuable leases on completion of wells now drilling, and soon drive this stock in a record breaking advance of from 20 to 50 times.

Under these circumstances, the Company reserves the right to approve or reject any subscription to or transfer of stock. The stock is non-assessable. Remittance will be accepted on the following basis, subject to withdrawal without notice if mailed not later than July 10, 1934.

Do You Keep Your Money Busy?

Is your money lazy? Does it lie around month after month earning 2 or 3 per cent, or nothing at all, when it might be finding a safe and legitimate way to earn 7%? You are quick enough to recognize the value of a man who is energetic and alert, and you know that he is worth three or four times as much as one who is lazy and indolent. But are you equally keen to appreciate the excellence of money that goes out into the world and keeps moving until it finds a safe berth where it can earn 7%?

Do you know that one of the safest and most convenient ways for your money to earn 7% is to buy the stock of industrial preferred stock we have been selling for twelve years? Do you know that you can verify this fact through any bank or commercial agency in Stark County, where our principal office is located? If you do know these things and your funds continue to idle along at 2 or 3 per cent, is there anyone but yourself to blame?

Perhaps you will say that you do not have time to make a study of investments. This is probably true. It is also true of more than 10,000 men and women, residing in thirty-five states, who have learned to rely on our recommendation in making their investments. During the past twelve years they have bought nearly $20,000,000, par value, of preferred stocks from us without the loss of a dollar of principal or income.

If you have $100 or more that should be put to work, send us your name and address today, and we will send you a booklet describing the 7% cumulative preferred stock of The Central Steel Company. This booklet contains financial statements and other accurate information which we place at your disposal, without expense or obligation, as part of our service to those who have money to invest.

ESTABLISHED IN 1920

Entered as Second Class Matter March 10, 1882, at the postoffice at Newark, Ohio, under the Act of March 3, 1879.

It is never a good plan to swap horses while crossing a stream of water.—Abraham Lincoln.

President Wilson.

The Democratic party goes before the American people with a candidate whose wisdom and ability in a period of unparalleled storm and stress entitle him to support in the name of a patriotism which dwells all narrow partisanship. His record of achievement has won the applause of his friends, the admiration of his political foes, and the gratitude of the nations at large.

He has given the country a currency system which on the eve of universal upheaval enabled finance and industry to stand unshaken. What the conditions would have been under Republican rule may easily be imagined by recalling the disaster of 1907. He has proved himself a better pilot in a storm than the Republicans in an era of profound tranquillity.

Under his guidance a Democratic Congress has written upon the statute books a tariff law which has brought prosperity to every class of the American people. The familiar shibboleths of the Old Guard, the prophecies of impending calamity have become the butt of mockery and derision in the light of facts. The noisy forecasts of evil are drowned in the song of the harvest and the hum of the loom.

He has passed unscathed through a crisis in international affairs that would have seared the soul and paralyzed the mind of a weaker character. Charged with the welfare of a hundred million people, whose destiny was exposed to all the cross-currents which blew from the earth's four corners, he has maintained peace while giving the world a new and inspiring vision of the moral grandeur of the nation, jealous of its honor, but devoted to the interests of mankind.

In the highest sense he is the embodiment of a splendid Americanism. The best traditions of the republic are wrought into the very fiber of his being. He loves peace well enough to fight for it, if need be. He has made it doubly clear to all the nations of the New and Old World that the United States covets nothing which is not legitimately its own. In trying ordeals he has shown that the American people ask nothing and concede nothing, except to work out their own destiny under the free institutions which are their peculiar heritage.

But with it all, the candidate of the Democratic party is no visionary, groping in cloudland. He is a star in a world of realities. He has taken measures which insure the safety of his country. If, out of this welter of war, this riot of mad passions, should come a menace to the liberty, peace and prosperity we enjoy, the forces he has marshaled with an unvanquished but determined efficiency

ELECTING A PRESIDENT

Jackson Defeats Adams in 1828 Election.

THE Democrats nominated Andrew Jackson of Tennessee in 1828, and John Quincy Adams again opposed him. The election occurred on Nov. 4, and the vote, counted on Feb. 11, 1829, was: Jackson, 178; Adams, 83. Calhoun was elected vice president. The popular vote that year was: Jackson, 647,221; Adams, 500,007.

Jackson was again elected in 1832. The first national convention was held that year, and the platform was adopted setting forth the policies of the Democratic party.

Jackson was renominated and was opposed by Henry Clay of Kentucky. The vote was: Jackson, 219; Clay, 49. Popular vote: Jackson, 687,502; Clay, 530,189. Van Buren was elected vice president.

(Watch for the election of Van Buren in 1836 in our next issue.)

Far Worse Than War.

(Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.)

One gathers from the conversations he hears that popular opinion inclines to the view the worst thing that could befall this country is war. The mere chance that we may become embroiled with Mexico appeals large numbers of our people. They can conceive of nothing more disastrous than war and would submit to almost any indignity rather than resort to sanguinary strife to uphold the honor and rights of this country. To be sure, they offer arbitration as a substitute for war, which is not just the same as being willing to cinge rather than fling. The weakness of their attitude is that it does not admit of any case that could not be settled by arbitration. Yet the Mexican situation as it exists cannot be arbitrated; so long as Carranza fails effectually to safeguard our border from raids by his people the United States must rely solely upon its own might for protection. If Carranza resists, then we have war. But antecedent arbitration must be agreement by disputants to abide by whatever the umpire's decision may be.

In case of war with Mexico comparatively few of our people will feel it. Even were a strong foreign power to attack us on our own soil most of the country would be not directly affected. Domestic conditions would not be seriously disturbed outside the war zone, which necessarily would be of limited extent. Is, then, war the worst calamity that might befall us? How about a strike of railroad train operatives on practically all the lines in the country? Immediately railroad transportation ceased suffering would begin, not only in one state but in 48, not only in a few seacoast cities but in every center of population in the Union. The whole country would be tied up. War could not produce the wide-spread disaster that would follow in the wake of a general railroad strike. Yet we are threatened by just such a strike. The railroads and their employees in the train service have failed to agree on a question of hours of work affecting wages of the men and operating costs of the companies. Here is a case for arbitration. The railroads have proposed that the dispute be so settled. The men have refused the offer. A vote is being taken on the result of which depends whether they shall strike.

The patriotic spirit of the nation is aroused by the menace of a little war; the people, including railroad men, are horrified. Isn't this railroad strike menace something also to stir the patriotic? Isn't the welfare of the nation as much at stake as if a foreign foe were threatening invasion? It is, and there should be no more talk of a strike. Let us be as patriotic in domestic affairs as we would be in the face of national danger from without. Arbitrate!

A War of Staying Power.

(Ohio State Journal.)

Probably not very much in the way of immediate and far-reaching results is to be expected from the new French and British drive along the Somme, although the Allies appear thus far to have inflicted considerable more damage than they have suffered in the offensive movement and every such advantage gained has its influence upon the ultimate outcome. It has become a war not so much of active military prowess as of staying power and probably it will not be decided at last by a brilliant victory on the field. Each little gain is made at tremendous cost to the gainers as well as to the losers and apparently it is this vast destruction of resources which ultimately will end the war. The terrific waste cannot go on forever and the side whose material resources fall first will have to quit.

General Wood's difficulty in moving the guard was not due, we hope, to the fact that he has had to devote so much time to partisan politics during the crisis.—Rochester Herald.

Mexico at Carranza's Mercy.

(New York World.)

To Carranza the opportunity has been given to serve Mexico by co-operating with the United States in the suppression of lawlessness. At no time has he manifested any sluttishness in making an end of bandit raids on the territory of the United States. Where it was in his power to profit by the friendly offices of this country, he has sought to create new causes of friction. So far as he has followed any definite course, he has persisted in challenging his own good faith as the responsible head of the existing government in Mexico.

As a final test of Carranza's policy toward the United States Secretary Lansing has called on him for "an early statement" of his purposes. Instead of submitting his reply, he has temporized and used his official position to inflame Mexican sentiment against this country. If the United States at heart were determined to take aggressive action he long ago afforded it reasons for employing force. Only by good will toward a weak and prostrate neighbor has Carranza been saved from plunging Mexico into disaster. His attitude has been deliberately insolent, provocative and hostile; the forbearance of the United States Government has thus far averted a final rupture of relations.

Today the Mexican people hang helplessly balanced between peace and war at the mercy of a ruler who invites disaster. With exceptions few in number and little to be considered, the American people will hope that he may see the light.

Speak Out.

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)

Mr. Hughes in his letter of thanks to Mr. Roosevelt speaks of the nation's indebtedness to the latter for "the demand for an out-and-out 100 per cent Americanism." Before that he had spoken of his own "undiluted Americanism."

But is it not about time that Mr. Hughes, who has recovered his power of speech, or Mr. Roosevelt, who has never lost his, tell us something definitely about this Americanism which they profess?

In just what does it differ from the Americanism which they condemn in Woodrow Wilson?

What sort of Americanism is Mr. Hughes to give us should he succeed Woodrow Wilson?

How is to be distinguished from the Americanism with which they say Woodrow Wilson has disgraced us?

Will those Kaiser-Americans, who did so much to nominate Hughes and the promise to elect him, like his Americanism better than they like Wilson's? Administration?

They say they are going to defeat Wilson because they despise his brand of Americanism. Mr. Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt say that Wilson must be defeated because of his brand of Americanism. Are not the American people entitled to know what sort of Americanism they are to have when Mr. Hughes and Mr. Roosevelt and the Kaiser's Americans discard the Wilson Americanism?

The Advocate's Melting Pot

It is not strange that that early love of the heart should come back, as it so often does when the dim eye is brightening with its last light. It is not strange that the freshest fountains the heart has ever known in its wastes should bubble up anew when the life-blood is growing stagnant. It is not strange that a bright memory should come to a dying old man, as the sunshine breaks across the hills at the close of a stormy day; nor that in the light of that ray, the very clouds that made the day dark should glow gloriously beautiful.—Hawthorne.

Custom House records show that the imports of the "luxury class" have increased enormously, particularly in the items of precious stones and works of art. Did You Know
That Nathaniel Hawthorne was born in Salem, Mass., 112 years ago today, July 4th? He was the first of the family to add a "w" to his name, his ancestors having spelled the name "Hawthorne." At the age of 14 he lived for awhile on the shore of Sebago lake in Maine. "I lived in Maine," he said, "like a bird of the air, so perfect was the freedom I enjoyed. But it was there I got my cursed habits of solitude."

At the age of 17, Hawthorne went to Bowdoin college, where he met Longfellow, Franklin Pierce and Horatio Bridge. In his dedication of "The Snow Image" to Bridge in 1850, Hawthorne says: "If anybody is responsible for my being at this day an author, it is yourself." At the age of 28 he married Miss Sophia Peabody and the history of American literature can record no happier marriage and no more idyllic life than this couple lived. Hawthorne died before the completion of his 59th year.

Judging Our Judge.
Today Christ stands at the judgment bar of mankind. He who is to judge us tomorrow stands to be judged by us today. Are we giving Him a fair trial? Are you, and you. We cannot wash our hands of the matter. Christ demands judgment of us. He has a right to it. It is our bounden duty to judge him and to judge him fairly, and to execute our judgments, i. e., to act upon them. God has endowed us with the faculty of judgment for this very purpose. It will not be well for us—it could not possibly be well for us—when we stand in the upper courtroom where Christ is Judge if we fail to do our duty in this lower courtroom where we are the judges. What think you of Christ?—The Christian Herald.

FELL FROM PORCH; ARM IS BROKEN

Mrs. John Gardner, 60, was seriously injured in a fall at her home in Berger Valley, north of the city Monday evening.

The Gardner home has a high front porch and Mrs. Gardner stepped off of this breaking her right arm and dislocating the wrist. Dr. P. H. Conner of Newark was called to dress her injuries.

SPEND QUIET NIGHT ALONG THE BORDER

San Antonio, July 4.—General Funston continued today the direction of the mobilization of National guardsmen from the Gulf of Mexico to Lower California. Early morning information reaching General Funston indicated another quiet night along the border.

Army officers were frank in the expression of their skepticism concerning the reports that the administration is planning an early withdrawal of General Pershing's troops. In view of the declaration by General Funston that his chief object in recommending the division of authority along the border was to enable three high ranking field officers to organize tactical units, surround themselves with competent staffs and otherwise prepare for possible general operations in Mexico, army officers regard the acceptance of the suggestion by the war department as more indicative of preparation for war than of yielding to demands for withdrawal.

SEC. DANIELS THE ORATOR AT LEWISTON

Lewiston, Me., July 4.—The American youth of the future must be taught a patriotism without boasting, a love of country without chauvinism or jingoism, a reverence for the flag without a trace of brag or bluster, declared Secretary Daniels here today at a Fourth of July celebration.

"The day has passed," said Secretary Daniels, "when the spread eagle orator boasts in stentorian tones that Uncle Sam could whip anything in creation, but the day must never come when the American youth will not glory in the victories of Putnam and Marion and Washington, or when we are not thrilled with enthusiasm when the victories of John Paul Jones, Perry and MacDonough are related."

America, said the speaker, is broadening its viewpoint and getting away from a parochial patriotism.

Ice Treatment for Wrinkles.
There is no remedy for wrinkles more efficient than cold compresses and ice packs, combined with gentle massage with a good tissue-building skin food. Dash cold water on the face, neck and arms every morning and you will be ready to pick up the whole world and carry it on your shoulder.

The shock of cold water fills your lungs with air and freshness and brightens your whole spirit, but the one great good is the stimulation of the blood vessels and capillaries, the glands and the pores, all of which have much to do with the actual formation of tissues, the healthy condition of which is necessary for a smooth, unwrinkled skin. A quick cold spray will fill out the tissues of the neck and develop the chest, hardening the muscles and enlivening the circulation. A piece of ice wrapped in linen and passed over the face, will act as an astringent, doing away with oiliness and actually refining the texture of the skin.

Scrubbing every night with warm water and pure soap, followed by a rinsing with cold water, then a quick dry cleansing with a soft cloth dipped in alcohol, will remove blackheads and heal eruptions. The treatment should finish up with a gentle anointing with creme marquisse or orange flower skin food.

The morning salt glow, which is a brisk rubbing down of the body with moistened salt, followed by a quick cold shower, is particularly beneficial for thin, colorless lips and dull, listless eyes. Two glasses of water taken before breakfast, adding a little lemon juice and a pinch of salt to each glass, will have a wonderfully speedy bleaching effect upon a sallow skin. Pimples can sometimes be entirely cured by the water treatment. The hot soapy bath every night, the quick cold sponge bath every morning, the application of compresses wrung out of hot water, then out of cold, and the usual eight glasses of water taken internally each day.

NEWARK IS CELEBRATING THE FOURTH

Newark as a unit paid tribute to Independence Day and all business houses were closed throughout the day with the exception of the confectionery stores and drug stores.

All employees were given an opportunity to enjoy the holiday and the courthouse employees were given the same opportunity as all the offices were closed. From most of the homes and places of business were seen a lavish display of the national colors, the possibility of war with Mexico seeming to stimulate patriotism.

This afternoon the Newark people will assemble at White Athletic field where a program of interesting events has been arranged.

"Mr. Mickles, your wife is outside, sir," said the office boy.

"Ow," said Mickles expressively, and rose from his desk and went out into the ante-room, carefully shutting his office door behind him.

"Henry, I've come to see your new stenographer," said his wife.

"But, my dear, she will offend your esthetic sense," protested Mickles. "She's a sight. I told you she was a sight."

"I insist on seeing," replied Mrs. M.

"Very well, but wait till I finish dictating a letter. It's very important—It's to Higman and Diggins cancelling an order for a dozen lead pencils and must get off."

"I'll not wait a second."

"Just as you say, my dear. But your hat isn't on straight. There's a glass over there in the corner."

"Oh, dear, I'll fix it. I'll be there in a minute."

And she went over to the glass to straighten her hair, and in the half hour it took her to do it, Mickles hid his beautiful stenographer out the window on an improvised rope ladder, and hauled up a frightfully homely one for whom he had telephoned to the employment bureau.

Our Boys and Girls

Perhaps one of the sorest trials to the ordinary mother with a young child is the atrocious person who will caress the little one every time she sets eyes on it—or in other words, the woman who will kiss young children is a real thorn in a mother's flesh.

The evil, of course, lies in this, that the mother cannot very well complain—did she do so the offense would surely be given; besides, she knows quite well that the erring person means no harm, but rather intends to be kind.

It may seem a trifle harsh to interfere with an elderly woman who, with the explanation, "Oh, what a pretty little dear!" bends over your child and kisses it tenderly; still, it is a duty to interfere and utterly prohibit such practice.

And if the elderly female is bad, the elderly man is worse, more especially if he is adorned with a huge beard.

But it is not this way alone that mothers are troubled by the actions of outsiders. For instance, there was a case lately where a mother received gross abuse from one or two children when she asked any of them to go down the street to the grocery shop. She could not understand the reason for the children's impertinence, and reluctance, to do as her bidding; but ultimately discovered the secret.

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising, a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath, others who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphated hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanses, purifies and freshens the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do.

Findlay—Jitney bus proprietors must pay a yearly license fee of $25 and furnish a bond of $5,000 if they wish to continue their business here, by the terms of an ordinance just adopted by council.

Elyria—Retail business houses here have put the ban on work during Wednesday afternoons of July and August. Business and professional men, 109 in all, have signed to close their stores and offices at noon each Wednesday until the first of September.

Cleveland—Tris Speaker, the Indians' idolized outfielder, went to the stockyards last week as various units of the cavalry from Boston passed through enroute to the Mexican border and chatted with the many cavalymen with whom he is personally acquainted.

Columbus—Beginning July 1 the state will pay $1,000 more each week for the ensuing three months for meat to supply the various state institutions. State Purchasing Agent I. V. Lyons has announced. This advance is occasioned by the material rise recently in the price of meats. The state has 22,000 wards for which Mr. Lyons buys food supplies.

Columbus—Americanization and patriotism are to be accentuated at the celebration of the Fourth of July by families of local Jewish organizations, according to announcement by those arranging for the event.

Vermillion—With two badly swollen and discolored eyes, Archie Burch, a private in Company G, Fifth Regiment, Ohio National Guard, is in a hospital at Norwalk as a result of his encounter with a civilian who took occasion to speak of the guardsman as a "tin soldier" when he was walking in the business section of the city Thursday. After the encounter the civilian made his escape.

Cleveland—"I'm no longer in the army, but I am still connected with the infantry," is a remark Rev. E. W. J. Lindemith made to a friend recently. A short time ago he became chaplain of St. Ann's infant asylum. He was formerly a United States army chaplain.

Marysville—John P. Montgomery, head of a local dairy products manufacturing company, has guaranteed any of his employees their positions at the termination of their service and the difference between the pay they will receive from the government and that which they would get at the factory in the event of their wishing to enlist in the Ohio national guard. Several enlistments have resulted.

Cedar Point—Samuel Untermyer of New York, will deliver the principal address Friday afternoon at the annual meeting here of the Ohio State Bar Association. The meeting will begin Wednesday and close Friday evening.

GREAT CROWDS SEEK PLEASURE CENTERS TODAY

Today promises to be a record breaker for the Ohio Electric Railway, for since 5:06 o'clock this morning the crowds have thronged the station and Buckeye Lake Park will probably have the largest day in its history.

Ideal weather brought the crowds out early and at 9:00 o'clock this morning over 600 tickets had been sold from Newark alone to the lake. Great crowds are going to Zanesville to attend a celebration by the Woodmen of the World and over the steam roads great numbers went to Coshocton to a K. of P. outing.

Zanesville cars bound for the lake are packed to capacity and reports at the local offices of the railway company report that Columbus people are going to the lake by the thousands.

Last night it was impossible to find hotel accommodations and many slept in boats and under the trees. The local hotels are expecting a big overflow business this evening from the lake.

The motorists got an early start and since daybreak tourists have been in continuous procession through the city. Many of them stopped at the local hotels and restaurants for breakfast.

A large local celebration of the Fourth has been arranged for this afternoon at the White athletic field.

Readers' Viewpoint

Editor Advocate:

Mr. Hughes' letters to the Progressive committee and to Colonel Roosevelt plainly reveal a desire to rival even Roosevelt himself in the condemnation of President Wilson's foreign policy; but while Mr. Hughes is indulging in this particular rivalry, he has so far failed to state what course he would have pursued if he had been in Mr. Wilson's place—and particularly has he failed to say what changes he would make in the foreign policy of the government, if he were now in Mr. Wilson's place. He surely does not propose to go through the campaign expecting the people to make him their president if he fails to do this.

I have no objection to Mr. Hughes' changing the changes on his "Americanism" to his heart's content; but verily I do not think he reveals the highest standard of "Americanism" in ignoring the fact that the government of the United States of America without bluster or braggadocio has caused the greatest military power of the world to change its submarine policy, leaving out of view everything else that has been accomplished by Wilson's administration. I am very reluctant to assume that Mr. Hughes has felt no thrill of satisfaction over this triumph of his country's diplomacy; but why does he fail to express any?

Also why does he ignore the fact that Mr. Wilson has steadfastly and unflinchingly maintained our neutrality between the warring nations of Europe. If this is what Mr. Hughes calls "vacillation" and "inaptitude," then the more "vacillation" and "inaptitude" we have in the White House the better for us.

For my part, Mr. Editor, I feel no need of a loud trumpet to proclaim my "Americanism," and I must ever acknowledge the superiority of any fellow citizens "Americanism" to my own it will not be the "Americanism" or the patriotism of the man who can look with a cold eye and an unresponsive pulse on the spectacle of the mighty German Kaiser uncovering his head and sheathing his sword while he solemnly promises at the behest of our government to bring his submarine policy within the domains of international law.

Also I think it would have been more consistent with Mr. Hughes' repeated and re-repeated protestations of his super-Americanism if instead of contenting himself with the brief declaration that the "government has and must have" the support of every citizen in the existing exigency, he had also expressed the hope that if the issues now in evidence between the United States and Mexico can not be honorably adjusted without war (as now seems to be the case) then war should be waged against that unhappy country in the name of justice and liberty and not for conquest and the spoliation and enslavement of the Mexican people.

Of course, Mr. Editor, nobody claims that Mr. Wilson should be relieved of all unfavorable criticism, and nobody claims that he possesses infallible reason and judgment. Also nobody questions Mr. Hughes' high privilege of disapproving his foreign policy; but when Mr. Hughes represents him as having shown qualities in his executive office but "vacillation," "indecision," "inaptitude" and the like, Mr. Hughes' criticism is either woefully unfair or it is woefully unintelligent—rather should I say, it is both unfair and unintelligent. The American people know better; and the peoples and chancelleries of Europe know better also. As the German emperor! To say the least, Mr. Hughes' manner of criticizing Mr. Wilson's foreign policy is unworthy of his reputation.

utation and I predict he will find it so before the campaign closes. It remains to be seen what kind of a political campaign Mr. Hughes will make this year; but in my humble opinion he has made a very poor start, although we must make due allowance for the necessity of his securing the support of Mr. Roosevelt, and the votes of Roosevelt's following. But the Woodrow Wilson Republican—whose name is Legion—say, there's the rub. Mr. Hughes' M. R. SCOTT.

The superintendent of the Cincinnati, O., zoo was making arrangements to feed the 27-foot python and needed men to hold the reptile during the repast. His advertisement was answered by a serious-looking darky. "What we want," said the zoo man, "is a strong, husky chap to help hold the big snake while we feed him." The darky's jaws dropped, his eyes stuck out like golf balls and he gasped: "Yo—yo—want a man to do what? 'We want a man to help hold the big snake. What's the matter? Don't be frightened, there'll be ten of us—' 'Ho! on!' gasped the darky, making for the door. 'Ho! on!' 'Bey may be nine o' you but dey won't be ten o' us.'—Life.

Nature the Healer.
The influence of the forms and actions in nature is so needful to man that in its lowest functions it seems to lie on the confines of commodity and beauty. To the body and mind which have been cramped by noxious work or company nature is medicinal and restores their tone. The tradesman, the attorney comes out of the sky and the woods and is a man again. In their eternal calm he finds himself. The health of the eye seems to demand a horizon. We are never tired so long as we can see far enough.—Emerson.

HEAVY FIGHTING CONTINUES ALONG THE VERDUN FRONT

(Associated Press Telegram)
Paris, July 4.—The night was quiet north and south of the Somme with the French organizing the conquered positions, says the French official statement issued today.

The Germans made no attempt to interfere with French troops which were consolidating the new positions. In addition to the batteries already captured, three more have been taken, two of which were composed of heavy guns. French artillery is proving most destructive. In one dugout which was wrecked by a shell 40 corpses were found.

The Germans are said to have suffered enormous losses in the fighting near Herbécourt which the French captured.

At one point between the Avre and the Aisne a French reconnaissance as far as the support trenches.

Heavy fighting continued last night on the Verdun front. The Germans made six successive attacks north of Thiaumont wood from which they were driven by the French recently a few hours after they had carried it. Last night's attacks were repulsed the Germans sustaining considerable losses. Southeast of Fumin wood the French made some slight progress.

GERMANS MAKE A SMALL GAIN.
(Associated Press Telegram)
London, July 4, 2:10 p. m.—The Germans last night recaptured a small part of Laboulle which was taken by the British in the new offensive north of the Somme. Further to the south, an official announcement says the British made some progress capturing a wood. They took prisoners and war material.

The announcement follows: "The enemy reinforced by many battalions drawn from other parts of the line continues to offer very stubborn resistance to us at all points. During the night there was heavy fighting in the vicinity of La Boisselle. Our troops fought with great gallantry against heavy attacks by the enemy. The enemy recaptured a small portion of the defenses south of the village. Otherwise the situation in this neighborhood is unchanged."

FOURTH

AS CELEBRATED IN VARIOUS CITIES THROUGHOUT THE UNITED STATES

Nearly All Are Rational and Sane, Including Band Concerts, Drills, Etc.

(Associated Press Telegram)
New York, July 4.—Independence Day was celebrated at one hundred centers throughout the city today with 50 athletic meets for men and boys 70 festivals for women and children, band concerts, drills of boy scouts, addresses by city officials and dancing. The most striking feature of the celebration was seen tonight when all the centers had been illuminated with electric flags or other devices and the largest electric flag ever made will blaze from the roof of city hall.

Mayor Mitchell was chief speaker at the city hall celebration this morning.

There was a special effort to make today's celebration the most rational and safe and at the same time the most important Independence Day observance ever held in the city. Twenty thousand boys and men participated in the athletic games and 30,000 girls and children in the festivals.

PREPAREDNESS PROGRAM.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Atlanta, Ga., July 4.—Celebration of Independence Day in the southern states which usually is confined to the closing of banks and federal offices and a few picnics, today was marked by two preparedness parades, one at Macon, including almost five thousand state guardsmen in camp there, and the other one was in Atlanta.

The Macon parade was given added official recognition by the Georgia legislature which voted to participate in a body. Mayors of Georgia had been invited to mark in the Atlanta parade and 57 of them responded that they would be in line.

FOREIGNERS PARTICIPATE
(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, July 4.—Celebrations in nearly all the parks of the city, with special exercises in suburbs and institutions are to mark Chicago's observance of the Fourth of July today. One of the principal celebrations will be held at the Coliseum, where foreign born citizens will be assembled.

PATRIOTIC SERVICES.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Philadelphia, July 4.—A varied program of patriotic addresses, sporting events, band concerts, and other safe and sane exercises marked the Fourth of July celebrations. In this city, Independence square was the scene of the principal speech-making.

Patriotic services were held in Christ church and the descendants of the signers of the Declaration of Independence held their annual meeting in Independence Hall.

FIREWORKS AT PITTSBURGH.
(Associated Press Telegram)
Pittsburgh, July 4.—Independence Day was observed throughout the city today with parades and patriotic celebrations to be followed by fireworks in the public parks tonight. A central program was held in Schenley Park where United States Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa was the principal speaker, after an oath of allegiance had been administered to newly made citizens.

Obituary

John W. Lamb.
John Warren Lamb, aged 35 years, well known Licking county gardener, died at his home near the Stadden's bridge, east of the city, late Monday afternoon following an illness of ten years. Death was due to a complication of diseases. Funeral arrangements have not been made.

Mr. Lamb was born in this city, July 12, 1851 and has lived here and just east of town all his life. He is single and resided with his mother Mrs. Mary E. Lamb. The deceased was a member of the Bowling Green M. E. church, and also was a member of Cedar Camp, No. 4727 of the Modern Woodmen of America.

He is survived by his mother, two sisters, Mrs. Fannie Taylor, Mrs. Harry W. Wilson, and three brothers, George W. Lamb, James Grover Lamb and H. A. Lamb.

Mrs. Margaret Holmes.
Mrs. Margaret Holmes, aged 45 years, wife of J. H. Holmes, 30 1/2 South Fourth street, died at her home last Monday afternoon, following an illness of six weeks. Death was due to paralysis. The body was removed to the home of Mrs. William H. Rowland, a sister-in-law, 115 Jefferson street, where funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Mrs. Holmes was born in Mt. Vernon, Sept. 1, 1871 and came to this city about 20 years ago.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Miss Anna Taylor, Mrs. Ida Dunn, six sisters, Mrs. Laura Beatty, Mrs. Myrtle Weakly, Mrs. Elizabeth Trace and Mrs. Zoe Baker, all of this city, Mrs. Anna Trout, of Columbus, Mrs. Clara Cooper, of Hebron and one brother, George Carter, of Lancaster.

The funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 115 Jefferson street, Rev. L. P. Franklin, rector of Trinity Episcopal church, officiating. Interment will be made in Cedar Hill cemetery.

Inactive Liver Causes Headaches Constipation and Stomach Trouble

A Wineglassful of Tollo Water Will Clean Out the Bile and Make You Feel Fine in Half An Hour

Feel as bright and chipper as you should this morning? Or, is your tongue coated—your head heavy and dull—feel tired and listless. Know what's the trouble? A clogged liver!

Why not take a Tollo Water liver bath this morning? Tollo Water is concentrated and bottled at Dawson Springs, the famous Kentucky health resort—and is noted among physicians for its natural ability to cleanse the liver, restore proper bile duct activity. Once that is brought about, you feel better "all over."

All that you need to do is to get a 15 cent bottle of Tollo Water from your druggist. Then, before breakfast, take about a third of a tumbler of Tollo Water in a glass of drinking water. It will flush out the bile tubes and expel the waste from the whole system in 30 minutes.

This is a more sensible way of treating liver trouble than the old way of dosing oneself with calomel or other strong drugs. Such "remedies" frequently salivate and upset the stomach—and always bring about nausea and griping pains. Furthermore, their effects are only temporary.

Try an occasional Tollo Water liver bath—and keep your liver, stomach and bowels healthy—and just see how much better you will feel all the time.

PROGRAM AT WHITE FIELD DURING DAY

Newark patriotism will be given an opportunity for genuine expression this afternoon at the White athletic field when the 140th anniversary of the Declaration of Independence will be commemorated by especially arranged patriotic exercises, to be followed by athletic events which include everything from folk dances to a fat men's 50 yard dash. The importance of the day is further enhanced by this being Americanization Day, and the organizations of foreign born citizens will participate to large extent in both the spirit and outward demonstrations of the occasion.

During the morning in the court house park the Buckeye band gave a concert which was attended by a large crowd of appreciative citizens. The selections of the band were in accordance with the spirit of the day, and the band is deserving of much credit for its excellent program. At 12:30 o'clock the Old Guard, the Buckeye band, and the other organizations who are to march in the parade will assemble at the Memorial building, and at 1 o'clock will march to the White athletic field to take part in the program there. The Old Guard, many of whom are feeble, will be taken in automobiles to the White field to save them the exertion of the march and to insure their being present.

At the White field Prof. C. L. Williams of Denison university, will be the principal speaker of the afternoon. The preceding invocation will be conducted by Rev. Grover L. Diehl. The program will be interspersed by patriotic selections of the Buckeye band. A flag drill has been arranged for, and promises to be of much interest.

The program includes folk dances by the children of the Heisey playground and the White athletic field, a 75 yard dash for boys under 10 years, a 50 yard dash for girls under 10 years, a 100 yard dash for boys between 11 and 15 years, a 75 yard dash for girls between 11 and 15 years, a 100 yard dash for boys 15 years and over, a fat men's 50 yard dash, a girls' free-for-all 75 yard dash, a sack race, a three-legged race, and a boys' pack-a-back race. Handsome prizes have been donated by the Newark merchants for all the events.

Amusements

Alhambra Wednesday and Thursday.

"Fate's Boomerang" is the latest World Film release in which Mollie King is the featured star. It will be the attraction at the Alhambra theatre on Wednesday and Thursday. It is in five parts and deals with the trials of a man desperately in love with his wife, who is sent to supervise the building of a railroad in the western mountains. His wife, fond of sports and sparkling and witty, teaches a city life, refuses to leave her life of pleasure for the open and restricted life of the forests, only to find later that her mother-in-law is stronger than her desire for gaiety, but alas! it is too late. The husband is now growing with the railroad, eating bigger and blazer each day. Having met the little mother of the hills, mated with her and in her finds the true love that his heart has sought for so long. It is staged in a wonderful scenic atmosphere and its story is bound to please all lovers of strong and strange romance.

Nancy Boyer, capturing as ever, came back to the Auditorium yesterday (her farewell appearance) and delighted two large crowds. The writer who saw last night's performance has the following to say of "A Woman's Way," a comedy in three acts. There is no need to question the popularity of this star in Newark. Her first appearance was greeted with enthusiastic approval and the various expressions, smiles and general manifestations were essentially Nature's that the audience renewed their allegiance to the wiles and art of Miss Boyer.

As for "A Woman's Way" it is well worth while. The play is light, sparkling and witty, and teaches a pointed lesson. A husband, tiring of his wife, became infatuated with a rich widow. Instead of stopping and going home to mother, as most wives do under the circumstances, Mrs. Stanton (Miss Boyer) works out a plan of bringing the widow into her own home and through the expedient of also having many of the widow's former admirers, demonstrates to her husband that there is no love like the first love. Today for both the machine and evening, "Jerry," an American Comedy in four acts designed to set off the amusing witfulness, waywardness, but personal charm and instinctive sound sense of a heroine called for short "Jerry," a girl an hour ahead of time.

The Railroads

Francis Lee Stuart, chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad System, has tendered his resignation to President Daniel Willard, effective July 10, in order to engage in the private practice of his profession in New York and incident to this change it is announced that R. N. Begien, general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern, at Cincinnati, is promoted to chief engineer.

Mr. Stuart's retirement from active railroad service will be of general interest to members of the engineering profession throughout the country identified with transportation development by reason of his connection with many important projects having to do with the expansion of railroad facilities of recent years to meet the requirements of increasing business.

He has been chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio system since January 1, 1911. Prior to this he was chief engineer of the Erie Railroad for five years.

R. N. Begien.

R. N. Begien, the new chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio system, was born in Boston, Mass., March 15, 1875. After receiving a public high school education in Medford, Mass., and completing the engineering course at Harvard University, a member of the class of 1897, Mr. Begien went to Central America and served for more than three years as a member of the Nicaraguan Canal Commission. Leaving Nicaragua, he went to South America where he spent a year as a railway engineer in Ecuador, returning to the United States to enter the engineering department of the District of Columbia, Mr. Begien entered the Baltimore and Ohio service on August 1, 1902, as assistant engineer at Somerset, Pa., and in June, 1908, became division engineer at Philadelphia. He was promoted to the position of assistant to the chief engineer of the Baltimore and Ohio under A. W. Thompson, on May 1, 1910, and when Mr. Thompson became general manager Mr. Begien continued as his assistant, becoming assistant to third vice president on May 1, 1912. In December of that year, he was promoted to assistant general superintendent, with headquarters at Baltimore, and was advanced to general superintendent of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern in July, 1913.

Mountain Lake Park.

Mountain Lake Park, Md., reached by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, is the home of the Mountain Chalet and in the summer months is the center of much educational as well as recreational activity.

A number of large conferences meet there each season in a vast auditorium seating nearly 5,000 people, and the variety and quality of entertainment provided usually taxes the building to capacity. The surroundings of Mountain Lake Park are picturesque in the extreme and there are many fine hotels and comfortable cottages.

Deer Park, Md., also reached by the Baltimore and Ohio lines, is the most exclusive and the most beautiful resort in the Alleghenies. It also is on the Glades Plateau, and on every hand are magnificent views of faraway peaks and nearer ranges, forest-clad slopes and rocky promontories—and throughout the region are drives and trains, mountain streams and woodland depths luring the nature lover with their irresistible call.

Near the Deer Park station is the splendid Deer Park Hotel, with its group of charming cottages, while a short distance from the hotel is Boiling Spring, whence comes the water supply for the hotel and its entourage. Turkish baths and swimming pools are supplied from its tremendous flow, the latter being one of the amusement features of the resort.

There is also a fine casino, connected with the pools and hotel by a covered passageway, affording every convenience for the entertainment of guests.

HINTS TO PROGRESSIVE FARMERS

How can the farmer use the manure and lime on his own farm temporarily to offset the use of potash which is almost prohibitive in price? This is the problem which the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University is helping the farmers of the state to solve. Fertilizer meetings in which a soil specialist from the University visits farms and points out how the farmer can successfully maintain his yields without potash are now being scheduled.

Any reader of this paper can arrange to have one of these meetings on his own farm by writing to Clark S. Wheeler, Ohio State University, Columbus.

"Don't let the mites and lice eat up the profits of your poultry flock when a few cents worth of home-made lice powder will free all fowls," says M. C. Kilpatrick, poultry expert of the Agricultural College Extension Service, Ohio State University. An effective home-made lice powder is made as follows: Place 2 1-2 pounds of plaster of paris in a pan. Then stir in 3-4 pint of gasoline and 1-1 pint of cresol or 95 percent crude carbolic acid until a crumbly powder is formed. Dust the fowls by sifting the powder in the feathers, between the legs, under the wing and along the back.

What is an up-to-date water system worth to the farmer? Can the farmer afford to do without electric lights? How much is a gasoline engine worth a year? These are some of the questions which will be discussed at Farmers' Institutes, to be held at recent conferences held at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, Wooster, the subject of agricultural engineering was believed by the institute speakers to be one of the most appreciated of all farm topics
